A Good Motto to Remember

(Farmers cut this out)

Careful Straining and Proper Cooling of Milk in water at this time of year is very essential to guard against loss. Both Dairymen and Manufacturers take big chances of loss if the Milk is not cooled just as carefully during winter months as in the summer. Do not trust to weather conditions. The Milk will not cool in the centre of the can fast enough to prevent high acidity unless proper stirring is applied.

Peace in May

Paris, Feb. 9.—The task of the peace conference will be done in four stages, the first of which will be completed when Pres. Wilson leaves for Washington next Saturday. This is the stage of the preliminary consideration of every question to come before the conference with the appointment of special committees to consider them exhaustively and make definite arrangements.

These investigations, which will occupy the next month, will mark the second phase of the conference. The recommendations will then come before the conference bureau, and after revision will be considered in a series of plenary conferences. By the middle of April the conference will be transferred into the peace congress by the admission of representatives of enemy countries.

There is no intention to permit a prolongation of the proceedings by reopening discussions with enemy delegates. This is to be an imposed peace.

The conclusion of the conference and the signing of the peace treaty may be looked for about the middle of May. This is regarded here as a fairly accurate forecast.

To Be Governed By Their Own People

Paris, Jan. 31.—The agreement reached by the allied council of ten on the colonial question, says a Havas Agency statement today, provides that territories which are sufficiently civilized to give an expression of their wishes as to the form of their government will be permitted to set up such a government under the auspices of the League of Nations, obtaining either national independence or living under a protectorate of one or other of the great powers. Arabia and Mesopotamia are considered to be examples of this class.

In the case of peoples insufficiently developed for self-government, the statement explains, the League shall choose the power most suitable to govern, under certain guarantees to be fixed either by the peace conference or the League. Provisionally, the African and the far eastern colonies shall be left as they are now, in control of the powers now occupying them.

As regards Asiatic Turkey, the statement adds, the four great powers are to undertake its administration at once, and the council of ten has asked the Versailles war council to submit a report as to the best troops available for the occupation of this Turkish area.

Railway Workers Will Ask For Enormous Increases

The railway machinists and shopmen all over Canada and the United States will demand drastic changes in their wage schedule and working conditions when the annual schedule of wages is presented to the railway war boards next spring according to reports.

The machinists demand $5 cents an hour, the scale now in force being 68 cents; shopmen will demand 60 cents per hour, against 48 cents now. They will also demand two weeks holidays with full pay and the right of free transportation.

If these demands are met it means that the nice little sum of $124,500 increase every day in wages.

A GREAT STOMACH BRACER

Makes You Feel Lively and Young—Removes That Tired Feeling

At some period in our lives there is sure to come a time when the stomach is "off"—not working well—failing to enjoy and digest its food. Main thing then is to get the right remedy. You really want a soothing medicine, one quick to act, sure on results, combining the virtues of a gentle laxative with a tonic effect upon the stomach, liver and kidneys.

Certainly the world affords no better medicines, for the stomach than Dr. Hamilton's PILLS of Mandrake and Butternut. Their laxative effect is ideal—can't be beaten! But in addition to their helpful action upon the bowels, these pills contain certain ingredients that strengthen and invigorate the muscles of the stomach, thereby relieving all sorts of stomach misery, indigestion, sourness, rising gas, headache and biliousness.

Just try Dr. Hamilton's PILLS—they'll make you full of energy—brimming over with snap; they bring and maintain robust, sound, vigorous health, and isn't that just what you've looked for these many months? REFUSE A SUBSTITUTE FOR DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS. 25c per box, all dealers.

"We were not much too soon," Foster said with a breathless laugh. "Now I come to think of it, there's no obvious reason we shouldn't have stopped on board this train and got our lunch comfortably. I seem to have a habit of doing unusual and unnecessary things; it's curious how soon you get into trouble when you indulge a bent like that."

"You's a verru true remark," Pete agreed. "It's a rough and thorny world, an' if ye will not walk in the cleared paths but gang yere air gait, ye must struggle with the briars."

"And scramble through snow-sheds? You Scots are a philosophical lot. But do you call peaching sticking to the beaten path?"

"I'm thinking it's as near it as stravaging through the Border mosses, when ye might gang by train."

"A air lit! But after all, man wears the regulation paths so deep that he can't get out when he wants. What about the pioneers, who blazed the new trails? Aren't they needed?"

"Whiles, maybe," Pete answered grinning. "For a' that, they man tak' the consequences. Do ye feel it's yere business to break a new road?"

Women in all Parts of Canada

TELL OF THE HEALTH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BRING

They Made a New Woman of Mrs. John Mortimer, Who Was a Victim of Kidney Disease.

Glenavon, Sask., February 10, (Special).—"Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me." Those are the words of Mrs. John Mortimer, of this place. They are words that have been used again and again by women in all parts of Canada who have suffered, and who have found relief and cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I feel it is my duty to let you know what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me," Mrs. Mortimer continues. "I had a pain in my back, and I could not get out of bed without awful pain. I tried everything, but could get no relief. I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I sent to Toronto for them. The day I received them I took three before going to bed, and I felt a lot better next morning."

"I took them according to directions, and in one week I was as well as ever. I am fifty-five, and am doing all my housework. If I overwork and my back feels weak I take a Dodd's Kidney Pill, and feel better in a few hours. I have recommended them to my friends, and they also have been helped."

If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills ask your neighbors about them.

W. N. U. 1250

"Certainly not. I'm not a philanthropist and would be quite satisfied with making things a little easier for myself and my friends, but am much afraid I haven't succeeded yet. In fact, there's one friend in England who's very far from grateful. But the question is—why did I leave the train?"

"Ye must feel ye had to?"

"I think I did. But why did I feel it?"

Pete chuckled. "There ye have me! This I ken; whilsts when I had a bare or a few paltrig in the lining o' my coat and cam' to a slap in a dyke, I had a kind o' feeling you was no road for me. I couldn't tell there was a keeper hidin' on the other side but I didna' gang. Maybe it's better no' to argue but follow yere heart."

"No," said Foster, "I imagine it's really better to follow your head. In the meantime, I've had no lunch and think we'll get on."

They came to a wide hollow in the hills where the snow was deep and loose. The sun was shut out and the frost was keen, while Foster saw that the afternoon was wearin' on. A glance at his watch showed that he had been walking for nearly three hours, but there was no sign of the hotel. Dark masses of trees ran up from the water to the line of summer snow, and no roof or curl of smoke broke their sombre monotony. High above, the peaks glittered with a steely brightness that seemed to intensify the cold.

Their breath hung about them as they plodded on, but at length, when they came to the middle of the bend, where the hills curved out again, there was a break and they stopped at the end of a bridge. The low sun shone into the gap which was profoundly deep and majestically beautiful. On its farther side, tremendous crags held up the snow, which trickled down their faces in thin grey streaks and stretched back above, steeped in soft blue shadow. On Foster's side, giant pines glimmered a bright green in the warm light, running up to a glittering slope that ended in two rugged peaks, and a river that sprang from a wrinkled glacier foamed through the dusky gorge. Where a small clearing had been cut in the forest, steep red roofs stood out in harmonious contrast with the green of the firs, and a picturesque wooden building with pillars and verandah occupied the greater part of the opening.

"If the place is as attractive inside it's worth the walk," Foster remarked. "You appreciate your quarters best when you've had some trouble to get there."

"I'm thinking that's true. The peat fire and the antl rush chair in the bothothe are well worth winning when ye come through the rain and wind over the dark moss. This is a gair court, but it's not like that other among the Border fells."

Foster stood for a few moments and mused, for he empathized with Pete. He remembered t' satisfact' n with what he had seen the lights of a jolly inn or fair tead twinkle when he ped, set and tired, across the Scottish moors. They were bleak and often forbidding, but had a charm one felt but couln't analyze, with the half-light's bat trembled across them o' their subdued coloring. In spite of some hardships, he had been happy in the misty, rain-swept land, but he knew it had been touched by the glow o' romance. That was over. He was on his pre'pon in militiaman Canada, and very much at a loss; but he meant to make good s'—an' g forward, trusting in his luck.

"Well," he said, "I'm hungry and we'll get on. I hope they won't make us wait for supper though they'll no doubt call it dinner at a place like this."

Five minutes afterwards he stamped the snow off his boots—he entered a lass-fronted verandah in front of the hotel. It was comf'ably furn'ed, warm, and occupied by three people. A lady w' some sewing at a table, w' a very pretty girl, holdin' a cigarette case, leaned over the side of a basket chair in which a man reclined. Foster, who imagined he was an invalid by his slack pose, was passing on to the main door when the man moved. As he turned to take a cigarette Foster saw his face.

"Lawrence!" he exclaimed.

"Jake!" said the other, and would have got up, but the girl put her hand restrainingly on his arm.

Foster stood still for a moment, overcome by surprise and satisfaction, but understanding what he saw. The lady with the sewing was studying him, but he did not resent this and thought he would like her. The girl divided her attention between him and his comrade, whom she restrained with a pretty air of authority. She obviously knew who Foster was and felt curious, but meant to take care of Lawrence. There was something in her protective manner that Foster found singularly charming. Then Lawrence beckoned and held out his hand.

"I'm uncommonly glad to see you, Jake, but how did you get here?"

They both laughed and Lawrence turned to the lady.

"This is my neglectful partner, as I dare say you have guessed. Mrs. Stephen, of Victoria, Jake."

She gave Foster her hand and he was next presented to Miss Lucy Stephen. Then Lawrence indicated Pete, who waited, looking very big and muscular but quite at ease.

"Who's this and where did you get him? I'll engage that he was born between Ettrick and Liddell."

"He kens!" Pete remarked with a twinkle. "My name's no' far frae Ettrick, sir."

"My friend, Pete Scott," said Foster. "You have heard the ladies' names, Pete, but this is my partner, Mr. Featherstone, from the Garth."

Pete lifted his hand to his forehead and the movement had a touch of "g'm." "Your servant, all an', ye'll alloo it, Mr. Foster's friends are mine."

Lawrence laughed. "A very proper sentiment, and a true Borderer! But you haven't told us how you found him, Jake."

"It's a long tale," said Foster. "Beside, I'm hungry. So I expect is Pete."

Lucy Stephen rang a bell. "Tea ought to be ready. We often take it here."

The tea was brought a few minutes afterwards and when Lucy gave him his cup Foster s' in a basket chair studying his comrade. Lawrence's face was pinched and his pose languid, but Foster thought he was not so ill as he had been. He did not know how much he ought to ask and had decided to wait until they were alone when Lawrence smiled.

"You needn't be alarmed, partner. I'm very much better than I was and will soon be quite fit again."

"We have good ground for hoping so," Lucy Stephen added in a friendly to, and Foster thought she had noted his anxiety and liked him for it.

Her remark seemed to warrant his looking at her and he approved of what he saw. The girl was attractive and had character, but what struck him at first sight was the protective gentleness she showed his comrade. He liked her eyes, which were a soft, clear blue, while her supple figure and warm-tinted skin hinted that she was vigorous. It was plain that she had not Alice Featherstone's reserve and pride, nor he thought the depth of tenderness that the latter hid. She was softer and more pliable, for Alice was marked by an unflinching steadfastness. He smiled as he admitted that for him Alice stood alone on an unapproachable plane.

"But how did you get ill?" he asked.

"I was left on an icy couloir," Lawrence replied. "When they found me I was half frozen, but it makes a story that's probably as long as yours. I'll tell it you later. How's our Borderer getting on?"

Foster turned to Pete, who had a large, hot Canadian biscuit on his plate. "This kind of meal isn't very common in this country, Pete. Perhaps I'd better warn you that there'll be another by and by."

"Aweel," said Pete, grinning. "I've no' done so bad. It's a guid plan to mak' certain when ye ha'e the chance."

XXIV

Lawrence's Story

When the meal was over Foster began to feel impatient. Pete went away, but Mrs. Stephen and Lucy remained, and Foster, who had much to ask and tell his comrade, was embarrassed by their presence. By and by he saw that Lawrence was watching him with quiet amusement.

"It's like old times to have you with us," Lawrence remarked. "In fact, it only needed your turning up to complete my satisfaction; but you're a disturbing fellow. Don't you think this h'ly reunion is rather too good to spoil?"

Foster knew what he meant and was tempted to agree, though he felt this was weak. It was pleasant to lounge, enjoying careless talk, and the society of the two ladies had its charm. They added a touch of domesticity and gave the place a home-like look, while the girl made an attractive picture as she handed Lawrence his matches and cigarettes.

Foster thought it was worth being ill to be waited on like that. Then his chair was comfortable and he could see the sunset fading on the snow.

The sky was a wonderful pale green nd the high peaks glowed against it, softly red. There was a belt where the snow glittered, but lower down it faded to grey and blue. The pines were nearly black, and far down the dusky gorge, from which the roar of the flood and crash of ice ascended, there were gleams of livid foam. Still there was much he wanted to learn, and it was some thing of a relief when Mrs. Stephen picked up her sewing and gave her daughter a meaning glance. To Fos ter's surprise Lawrence interposed,

"If you don't mind, I'd sooner you didn't go." Then he turned to Fos ter with a smile. "It's obvious that you want to unbosom yourself, Jake but you can begin. You needn't be afraid of mentioning Daly. Lucy knows."

Foster remarked the girl's blush.

Since she knew so much, it was plain, that Lawrence had asked her to marry him and she had agreed.

He imagined that Lawrence wanted Mrs.

Stephen to hear somebody else's account of the matter, and although it would have been easier to talk to

Lawrence alone, he asked:

"Did you know the fellow was in Banff a day or two ago?"

Lucy Stephen made an abrupt movement, and her mother looked interested but not alarmed. She was a quiet lady and more reserved than the girl, but Foster thought her intelligent and firm.

"I did not," said Lawrence. "As a matter of fact, I'm no longer afraid of the fellow and mean to fight. He can't do me much harm—new."

The girl's shy glance at his comrade moved Foster. She knew what her lover meant and valued his trust;

but he could sympathize with Mrs.

Stephen, who looked disturbed. The latter was practical and no doubt saw that Daly might give them trouble.

"You had better begin at the beginning, and then we'll understand why you came back and how you got on Daly's trail," Lawrence resumed with a hint of resignation.

"Very well; but first, why didn't you write?"

"We got no letters. Did you post them?"

"Ah!" said Lawrence, "that was unfortunate. I gave the letter to a steward to send ashore from a San Francisco boat. Walters put the other in the mail."

"What is Walters?"

"We'll come to him later. Get on with your story."

WAS PULLED THROUGH THE TRYING TIME IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. H. Membrury, 325 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and found them to be of great benefit to me, in fact, I consider they saved my life, and I have told many of my neighbors about them."

"Two years ago last November I was in poor health. The doctor said it was change of life, as I was over forty years old, and that I would have to be very careful of myself. Shortly after that I received an awful shock that nearly killed me. The doctor my husband sent for said I would soon be all right, and sent up some medicine, but it only seemed to increase the trouble. I was then taken to the hospital. The doctors examined me, but could not understand my case.

Then they sent for a specialist,

Members of Government, public men or any other parties who fancy that things are going on just as before, are probably up amongst the clouds. The social outbreaks which have occurred in Europe under certain conditions, and which are finding a pro rata parallel elsewhere, under other conditions, may be temporary upheavals only, but the appearance is that they are more of a steady and concerted push from the groundwork up. It looks very much as if our general domestic structure is folding itself into new shapes, and that in a few years layers will be where they now are not. This disturbance of the mass has the appearance of inevitability, and its results cannot be other than helpful to the community in general. I think we are in the midst of an involuntary bloodless revolution which has for its object not any great glittering objective such as the physical freeing of a down-trodden race, but simply that the policy of a square and honest deal shall be accorded to every branch of our domestic society. If this is what we are after, the oldstyle professional politician and lobbyist might as well begin his own reform right now, because he will be an object of derision instead of a person to bow to. The Government which despoils the natural resources of the country by pandering to favorites, handing over to them great stretches of our common property, together with franchises worth millions of dollars in market values, will be brought to book.

Ex-President Taft has no delusions as to the future responsibility of the United States in European diplomatic tangles. In his judgment there can be no more "splendid isolation" for America. Whether she likes it or not, she is already in the European game and must stay there. In other words she must assume her share of the responsibility that has heretofore been borne almost exclusively by Great Britain.—Calgary Herald.

Restoring Peace to the World

The eyes of the world are focussed on Paris where the leading statesmen of the civilized nations are deliberating in the Peace Conference, endeavoring to reach solutions of the many great problems confronting mankind, solutions which must be found if lasting peace is to be attained and the interests of all people adequately safeguarded. The British Empire, and Canada as a nation within the Empire, is represented in the Peace Conference and with the deliberations in the French capital it is not our intention to deal. The question to which the attention of the people of Western Canada may, however, be directed is what part, if any, they are yet called upon to play in making the world safe for democracy.

The general tenor of all reports from Paris is to the effect that the most difficult of all problems confronting the Allies is not how to deal with our enemies of the past four and a half years, nor is it how to adjust in an amicable and satisfactory manner the opposing interests and claims of the Allies, difficult as these may be. The outstanding problem which gives rise to keen anxiety in all countries is how to check discontent, Bolshevism, anarchy, which is spreading from Russia into many countries, particularly in Europe.

Can the people of Western Canada do anything to assist in this great task? Apparently they can do much, if President Wilson and the Allied leaders now in conference in Paris have sized up the situation correctly. They have come to the conclusion that just as the provision of an adequate supply of food was a prime essential to winning the war, so is food supply the keystone to the re-establishment of order and good government throughout the world. People who are hungry and starving and suffering all the distress which lack of food means, cannot be reasoned with nor controlled. Lack of food to sustain life encourages lawlessness and all the Bolshevik tendencies latent in man.

In his message to Congress urging the appropriation of one hundred million dollars for food relief in Europe, President Wilson said:

"Food relief is now the key to the whole European situation and to the solution of peace. Bolshevism is steadily advancing westward, is poisoning Germany. It cannot be stopped by force, but it can be stopped by food, and all the leaders with whom I am in conference agree that concerted action in this matter is of immediate and vital importance." He added: "I do not see how we can find definite powers with whom to conclude peace unless this means of stemming the tide of anarchism is employed."

Western Canada performed miracles in food production during the war, and it would seem that our duty in the present crisis lies in the same direction. Whether a guaranteed fixed price for our 1919 wheat crop is established or not, and even though prices drop to a considerable extent from the high war figures, all authorities are agreed that prices will range much higher than the old pre-war figures, and that there will be a market for all the foodstuffs Western Canada can produce. While profits may not, probably will not, be as great as during the last two or three years, there should remain a substantial margin of profit to the food producer.

Nobody understands the farmer's own business as well as the farmer himself, and we know of no class in all Canada which has been more quick to respond to all the calls of duty and patriotism than the men on the land. The object of this article is not, therefore, to tell the farmer what he ought to do—he is the best judge of that—but merely to draw attention to the world situation as it exists, and as it appeals to the leading statesmen of the world to whom the people have entrusted direction of their national and international affairs.

This existing situation seems to point to the conclusion that, just as the Western Canada farmer helped so materially to win the war for freedom and civilization, so can he now be an important factor in bringing about order and stable conditions throughout the world. And the re-establishment of such conditions are everyone will admit, necessary to the prosperity of all nations and all people and the resumption of peacetime trade throughout the world.

Fifty Minerals Essential to Industry

To Be Found in the Province
Vancouver, B. C. — "Minerals of the iron and steel industry," formed the subject of a highly interesting address given to the chamber of mines, Vancouver, recently, by Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of geology at the University of British Columbia. He spoke in an optimistic manner, and mentioned about fifty minerals, each of which was essential to industry, and each of which was to be found in the province. His statement that the iron and steel industry required not so much iron as coal to make it a success startled his hearers. Canada, he said, had 1,200,000 million tons of coal, and of this, British Columbia had the best and the most.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of babyhood and childhood and unless it is promptly cured will undoubtedly lead to disastrous results. To cure this trouble nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild laxative which instantly regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus banishing constipation, colic, colds, etc. Concerning them Mrs. Eugene Vaillancourt, St. Mathieu, Que., writes: "When by baby was constipated I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and am well satisfied with the result. I would strongly recommend them to all mothers for this trouble." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called free-zone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the sereness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers. It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Bumper Crops are Anticipated in Manitoba This Year

Winnipeg, Man. — Conditions were never better at this time of the year than they are now, and the prospects for a good crop next season were never brighter in the opinion of J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture, as expressed recently.

Mr. Evans referred to the large areas of new breaking land prepared for spring sowing, and emphasized the point that prospects were never better in Manitoba than today for a bumper crop, if anything like satisfactory weather conditions prevail during the summer.

Victoria Air Mail

Postal Service Is Within Bounds of Possibility

Victoria, B. C. — With flying boats able to make from 85 to 90 miles an hour and capable of carrying 250 pounds of mail, the establishment of an aerial postal service between Vancouver and Victoria, and Vancouver and Nanaimo, is within the bounds of possibility, and there is a strong probability that before next summer is very old, Hoffer Bros., of Victoria, will be in a position to give demonstrations of its practicability with the flying boat they are now constructing. The practicability of such a scheme presents no difficulties to Messrs. Hoffer Bros., of Georgia street, who recently have commenced construction of a new building in which to complete the flying boat. The machine they are constructing will cost something like $11,000, of which $6,000 is represented by the motor. It is designed to carry three passengers, or, with ease, 250 pounds of mail.

Fewer Children Die

Winnipeg, Man. — Despite the influenza less children died in Winnipeg in 1918 than in 1917, according to the report of officials issued recently. During last year the number of deaths among children under one year of age was 509, or 91 per thousand births. In 1917 the total was 545. In 1912, when the department took over the work, the rate was 212 deaths per thousand births.

SAVING OF LABOR ON THE FARM UNDER WAR TIME CONDITIONS

SUGGESTIONS FOR PLANNING THE WORK AHEAD

Proper Rotation of Crops, Performing the Work of the Farm at Definite Periods, and Cultivating a Spirit of Co-Operation in The Neighborhood, Will Help Solve the Problem

Economy of labor may be practised all the year round on the farm, for even in winter there is much repair work that can be done to advantage. The problem of fitting in the different operations to avoid congestion at any time is thoroughly discussed in a circular issued from the University of Illinois. A summary of the circular is as follows:

The problem during the war is that the now already overworked farmer must produce more, with less and poorer quality of help. Hence we must seek the solution of the problem from the following sources:

1. In the more even distribution of labor throughout the growing season by means of a good rotation of crops.

2. The equipping of every farm laborer, with enough horse power and with the size and type of machinery that will enable him to do the greatest possible amount of work.

3. The planning of all the farm work so that every operation that is not definitely fixed as to time or season may be fitted in between the busiest periods when every minute may be of special importance in producing or saving a crop.

4. The practice of letting live stock harvest crops and feed themselves so far as is practicable.

5. The use of a careful follow-up system to help in planning and executing the work from week to week and from day to day.

The labor required to produce practically all farm crops is required at a relatively short period, hence we should select crops and so arrange them in the rotation that certain operations which must be performed may not conflict with certain operations in the production of other crops. For instance, wherever possible, winter wheat should be included in the rotation, because the seedling time is in the fall when no other work is urgent and the harvest also comes before the harvest of the spring grain.

One-fifth to one-fourth of the acreage of a farm should consist of some legume—first, from the standpoint of fertility, and, second, from the standpoint of labor.

The amount of labor that can be performed by one man depends largely on the number of horses and size of machinery he can handle to advantage. One man can often do the work of two by driving one and leading a team attached to another machine. Farmers should not hesitate to buy large-type machinery because of high prices. The time saved by the use of large machinery has also doubled in value. Furthermore, the question of increasing food production should be given a preference over the question of profit.

In order that a farmer may reap the best results from his labors, a large part of the farm work must be performed at definite periods. Therefore, such work as has no definite time, such as repairing machinery, fences, tools and hauling manure, should not be allowed to interfere with planting, caring and harvesting of crops. All farmers practise this arrangement of work to a certain extent, but none have reached the stage where no more improvement is possible.

The practice of letting live stock harvest crops should be more extensively used. This applies particularly to the growing of hogs on forage, and finally putting on the finish in the corn field. It has been proved that a more profitable gain for the feed consumed can be made this way than by hand feeding methods.

The practice of grazing cattle on legumes should be more common, both from the standpoint of labor and that of restoring fertility.

In order to use labor to best advantage, work must be carefully planned ahead. The chief advantage of a carefully made plan at the beginning of the year, and a follow-up system to keep tab on the work from day to day, is that it keeps before the operator the things that need to be done. This will help him in deciding which needs to be done first and in fitting the various jobs together in such a way that the greatest amount of work may be done with the time and energy available.

Old jobs, if neglected, become fixed work after a time; and every such miscellaneous job that has been neglected on rainy days means practically a waste of time if done at a time when every hour is of greatest importance in producing or saving a crop.

A shortage of farm labor will still exist in wartime even by practising the strictest economy. To supply this shortage we must draw from other sources. Many retired farmers, even if physically unfit for hard labor, will be valuable in directing unskilled labor, and practically are skilled men in managing farms and handling machinery. The rush season on the farm is invariably the dull season for merchants in the small towns. Here is an opportunity for the merchant to be of real service to the farmer by allowing some of his help to supply the labor shortage on the farm at this time. Here is an opportunity for the merchant to become an associate of the farmer rather than a rival.

It is up to the farmer to use the high school boy, as much as possible even though he isn't the cheapest and most satisfactory kind of help. The inexperienced boy of today is the skilled farm hand of tomorrow. Thus, by employing boys of the town we accomplish two purposes, namely, supplying the present needs and supplying trained help for the future. City boys carefully selected and carefully trained will make very satisfactory farm hands.

Many industries that have no direct bearing on production will, as the war continues, be more and more curtailed, and men engaged in these industries will do well both by themselves and their country to get into some productive industry as soon as possible.

The present wage of the farm hand compares favorably with other occupations, and that will do much towards supplying the shortage of farm help. This shortage has been a most troublesome problem ever since the war began and becomes increasingly serious. No one knew how we would get through the season of 1917, but American farmers harvested the biggest crop on record. In 1918 they have duplicated that performance. In 1919 they can again be counted on to solve the problem in some manner.

Gift For King Albert

Sword of Honor Awaiting Him on Entry Into Brussels

During the earliest days of the German occupation of Brussels, in 1914 a project was formed to present King Albert with a sword of honor on his return to the city. The model was made, and the artist who designed it carried it through the barrier into Holland and from there to Paris.

The sword has been made there. The hilt is of gold and platinum set with precious stones. It represents the Belgian lion overcoming the Teuton eagle. It will be sent to Brussels and will be there in time for the king's entry into the city. The names of the Brussels committee in charge of the project will be kept secret until the Germans have retired from the country.

The saving farmer is a national asset. Canadian progress today in all lines attests magnificently to the splendid qualities of thrift that have marked the farmers in all the provinces. The total returns from field crops and animal produce, have been only possible because of the disposition to conserve the wonderful gifts of Providence.

and condign punishment any who, in violation of the laws of war and of the explicit convention of the Hague signed by Germany, have been guilty of the crime of murder.

In short, it would be just to put Germany in the hands of a receiver who would pay its just debts to France and Belgium and in the hands of a guardian who would provide protection for the German people and their neighbors from the madmen who have bankrupted their Fatherland and brought upon the civilized world this unparalleled tragedy.

YOU can't send away for good roads. The work must be done at home. The worst enemy of good roads is out-of-town buying. The only good roads movement that is worth while is that leading to the Home Town. The model community is honeycombed with good roads—all highways to the town market, making it easy of access to the farthest farm. GOOD ROADS and trading at home go hand in hand. RECEIVING WAR CROSS

The patriotic spirit and devotion with which Canadian women have so far performed war-service work and made sacrifices has never been equalled in the history of any country. Mothers, wives and sisters support this burden with strength and fortitude. But those who are already miserable from the complaints and weaknesses which are so common to women, should take the right temperance tonic for the womanly system.

If a woman is borne down by pain and sufferings, by nervousness or dizzy spells, by headache or backache, "Favorite Prescription" should be taken. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid at most drug stores. Send to Dr. Pierce's Branch at Bridgeburg, Ont., for a 10c trial pkg. of tablets.

For fifty years Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been most satisfactory in liver and bowel troubles.

Festivities were continued on Saturday night when a large skating party was held down on the Dog Pound. The ice was "slick" and spacious and there were many good sports there. A midnight supper was kindly served at the home of Mr. R. Cox.

A little son made its appearance at the home of Mr. Walt. Swingle two week's ago; hence the broad grin on Walter's face these days. We are all "tickled to death" and congratulate him most heartily.

A large crowd assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gilmore last Tuesday night when a reception was held in honor of the return of their son Pte. Bert Gilmore from France. We were all pleased to welcome him home and hear tales of his trench life, and also glad to see him in a good state of health despite his recent wound. We are all anxiously awaiting another reception for his wife.

Mr. Stanley Hardy was a weekend visitor somewhere on the Dog Pound this last weekend.

Miss Laura Krueger has returned home from Calgary Hospital where she has been undergoing an operation. We wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. Krueger is still there.

A most delightful evening was spent last Friday evening by those who were present at the Melvin dance, in spite of the fact that it was hardly possible to take six successive steps without a collision.

But the music and lunch were good, and the crowd was sociable which we most appreciate.

Miss Peggy Simpson of Calgary was up for the week-end visiting her sister to attend the dance and get a glimpse of rural life.

London.—Under the terms of the armistice there are 50 more German submarines to surrender to the British navy.

These submarines have already sailed for various allied ports where naval constructors will make a careful study of their machinery and internal equipment.

GOOD DIGESTION
A GREAT BLESSING

An Acute Sufferer Tells How She Found New Health

Very few people appreciate what good digestion means until they lose it. To be able to eat what you want and to properly digest it is a priceless blessing. But if you find that your digestion is in any way impaired you cannot afford to risk experiments by trying uncertain remedies. Strong medicines are hard on the stomach; pre-digested foods only aggravate the trouble. What is needed is a tonic that will so strengthen the stomach as to enable it to do its own work. There is no tonic for the stomach that is not at the same time a tonic for every other part of the body. As the blood circulates through all the body an improvement in its condition quickly results in strengthening any weak organ. Rich red blood is absolutely necessary to good digestion. If your stomach is weak, if you are troubled with sour risings in your throat, a feeling of nausea after eating, pains or fluttering about the heart, try at once the true tonic treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. So many people have been helped by this treatment that every sufferer from indigestion should promptly try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among the many who rejoice in a renewed digestion through the use of this medicine is Mrs. William Dale, Midland, Ont., who says:—"I suffered for a long time from a severe form of indigestion, and had doctored so much without benefit that I had all but given up hope of getting better. Everything I ate caused me intense pain, and some days I did not touch a thing but a cup of cold water, and even that distressed me. As a result I was very much run down, and slept so poorly that I dreaded night coming on. I was continually taking medicine, but was actually growing worse instead of better. Having often read the cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I finally decided to give them a trial. I had had great cause to bless this decision for by the time I had used a couple of boxes there was no doubt the pills were helping me, and in less time than I had anticipated the pills had cured me, and I was again enjoying not only good digestion but better health in every way than before."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Edmonton as Centre

When New System of Demobilization Comes Into Force

Edmonton, Alta.—Edmonton will be the centre of demobilization for the territory as far south as Red Deer, and as far east and west as the provincial boundaries, as soon as the government's scheme comes into force, according to a telegram received from Major General S. C. Mewburn, minister of militia, by H. A. MacKie, M.P., as follows: "Your telegram re Edmonton centre demobilization, Edmonton is a disposal station and when new system of demobilization comes into force, possibly this month, all troops desiring to take discharge in the electoral districts of Battle River, Edmonton East, Edmonton West, Strathcona and Victoria will be shipped straight to Edmonton and discharged there."

Prince Rupert's Growth

Customs Receipts Shows Substantial Development

Prince Rupert, B. C.—The customs receipts for Prince Rupert for 1918 totalled $238,084.78. This shows a substantial development in the port. Fisheries took an important part in the business of the district. Throughout the year, the halibut catch amounted to 15,206,700 pounds; salmon, 89,934,500 pounds; cod, 2,218,900 pounds; herring, 2,390,400 pounds; flat fish, 1,539,000 pounds. Prince Rupert's building permits for 1918 presented a total expenditure of $106,301, of which $55,400 was spent on the extension of warehouses and wharf buildings along the water front.

Asthma Cannot Last when the greatest of all asthma species is used. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy assuredly deserves this exalted title. It has countless cures to its credit which other preparations had failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the patient to a condition of blessed relief. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

They are not ejected in their entirety, but are ground up and pass away through the bowels with the excreta. Advanced School Policy

Alberta Cities are Promised Assistance for Education

Edmonton, Alta.—In answer to a delegation of mayors from the principal cities of the province which waited upon Hon. Geo. P. Smith, minister of education, asking that the government assume the entire responsibility for secondary education in Alberta, maintaining all high schools from government funds; the minister stated that the proposed government control of high schools was a more advanced policy than had yet been adopted by any state in the world.

It could hardly be undertaken in Alberta during present conditions. Some financial assistance, however, was promised the cities for their schools, particularly in connection with high schools and technical work.

Gaining Weight
Feeling Fine

Was All Run Down, Tired and Exhausted Before Beginning the Use of the Great Food Cure

Sexsmith, Alta., Feb. 12.—This is the cheering sort of letter that comes from people who have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This treatment forms new, rich blood and rich blood builds up the depleted nerve cells until the thrill of new life and energy is felt in every organ and member of the human body.

Because Mr. Edwards was also having some trouble with the liver and kidneys he also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to awaken the action of these filtering organs. The combined use of these medicines usually produces most excellent results, even in the most complicated cases.

Mr. Stephen D. Edwards, Sexsmith, Alta., writes:

"My nervous system was all run down, and I also suffered with my liver and kidneys. I could not sleep at night, and got up in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. I used to feel as if I wanted to die. In reading Dr. Chase's Almanac I noticed the number of letters from people who had been benefited by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills, so I commenced using this combined treatment. It has done me a great deal of good, for I can now sleep well and do not have that horrid feeling I used to have in the mornings. I am gaining in weight and feel much better generally."

Small Nations Want To Be Given Greater Power

Paris.—Although the five great allied and associated powers who are directing the peace conference have turned over much of the work to commissions, the society of nations question, especially with reference to the smaller nations, is becoming rather a knotty problem. The smaller nations, it is declared, want full equality in a society of nations and also greater powers than the plans already outlined give to them. The great powers, on the other hand, are faced with a situation that if each state is given a member on a supreme court of nations they might find themselves in the minority, although their interests might be much greater and probably would be.

It is not believed that the great powers would consent to an arrangement of this sort and a situation similar to that at the second Hague peace conference appears to be in the making. The experts on the society of nations questions are hopeful of finding a way to get the smaller states to agree to the plan, so that it will not fail as Elihu Root's scheme for a supreme court of nations failed of approval at the second conference at the Hague.

Program Suggested

Solutions for World League Adopted by Peace Societies

Paris.—A conference of allied peace societies, comprising delegates of the United States, England, France and Belgium, favoring the league of nations project, has given out resolutions adopted by it in addition to the aims outlined in the plans handed by Leon Bourgeois to the allied premiers.

They declare for an international bureau of labor and periodic conferences between employers and employees in line with the British project now before the labor commissions. They recommend the creation of an international commission of education to inform the public on the functions of the league of nations and to educate the people in the doctrines of democratic citizenship.

They further recommend that the enemy countries be required to limit their armament and manufacture of arms and munitions in order to enable the entente states to reduce their military forces.

They declare that the allied states should content themselves with the enormous stock of arms and munitions of war now in their hands as a result of the war and the seizure of many stores, and should forbid the sale of arms and munitions by the states in the league to others.

American delegates declined to endorse some of the recommendations, holding that disarmament would not enable the states of the league to maintain sufficient force of control of the enemy states until the latter were completely disarmed. They also objected to the prohibition of the manufacture of arms and munitions as calculated to prevent scientific developments that might benefit the world.

Germans Damage Buildings

London.—During the bombardment of Bremen, the old cathedral, the bourse and the city hall were damaged and many houses partly destroyed, according to an Exchange Telegraph company despatch from Copenhagen.

The government troops made their entrance after the city had been bombarded. Many persons are reported to have been killed in the bombardment. Armed Spartacists from Gotha are on their way to Bremen to the support of the Spartacists there.

Wounded Coming Via U. S.

Washington.—Plans for landing wounded Canadian troops at Portland, Maine, with the approval of the United States government, were announced by the American Red Cross.

Transfer of the men by rail across Maine and New Hampshire will cut many hours off their journey homeward from France. The first load will embark at Portland in a few days, two consignments a month being arranged for thereafter.

Must Have Coal

Paris.—Hugh S. Gibson, Captain T. T. C. Ferguson and other representatives of the inter-allied food relief commission returned to Paris to make a report to Herbert Hoover, director general of the commission, after several weeks' travel through Poland, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Serbia. "Coal is now the most pressing need in Czechoslovakia, Austria and Hungary," said Capt. Ferguson, "and without an increased fuel supply food relief on a large scale is impossible. Only one-tenth of the possible number of trains are operating in Austria and Hungary because of lack of coal, and conditions are little better in Czechoslovakia."

A proposal is made in British Columbia to remodel the police force of the province on the lines of the Northwest Mounted Police.

Direction Finding Stations Established

Will Prove of Great Value to Vessels Lost in Fog

Ottawa.—The department of the naval service has established on the east coast of Canada four direction finding stations which will, it is expected, prove of great value to vessels lost in the fog and unable to determine their position. These stations are located at Cape Sable, at the mouth of Halifax harbor; Cape Canso, and Cape Race, Newfoundland. From any or all of these stations a vessel equipped with wireless may obtain a bearing while still at a distance of several hundred miles from the coast.

At an ordinary wireless telegraph station there are no means for determining the direction from which incoming signals are being received. At the opening of the war efforts were concentrated upon the development of the direction finding stations in order to locate the position of hostile craft carrying wireless equipment. An invention by two Italians solved the problem and this has been installed in the Canadian stations. Since the signing of the armistice, however, the stations have been placed at the disposal of commercial shipping and information to this effect is being distributed all over the world.

Need Long Credits

In Order to Give the Nations Breathing Time

Paris.—Alvin W. Krich, president of the Equitable Trust company of New York, who is visiting France for the purpose of studying the financial condition, and, if possible, ameliorating it, said to the Associated Press:

"The temporary suspension of liquidation by the governments to one another ought to be one of the expedients of inter-government finance. I mean that for the present we should have an international moratorium between the governments in order to give the nations breathing time."

France owes England and America; Belgium owes France, England and America; Italy owes America, England and France. The small nations owe the big ones. No one of them, large or small, can conveniently pay at the moment. Hence, they all need an international moratorium to afford time for reconstruction. Even Germany must have time to make payments.

"It seems to me that this is the time that America, with infinite advantage to herself, may supplement her military support, now that the occasion for such support has practically disappeared, becoming a genuine factor in the establishment of a intimate union with France for the promotion of the material interests of both countries."

Air Mechanics Rebel

London.—More than four thousand mechanics of the Royal Air Service corps have refused to go on duty in depots adjoining London. They claim that their contract with the government as soldiers is ended and demand that they be demobilized and engaged as civilians to continue the work, or be given the same pay that civilians would earn.

Will be Crime to Build Subs.

Statesmen Favor Abolition of the U-boat

London.—Referring to a report received from Paris by the way of New York that the American plan for assuring freedom of the seas includes the restricted use or abolition of the submarine, the Daily Telegraph says:

The submarine campaign was aimed at this country, and we suffered worse than all other nations combined. There is danger that that fact may be overlooked. Besides ships we lost cargoes valued at hundreds of millions of pounds sterling, while 15,000 British men, women and children were assassinated at sea.

"As we made no special representations on this subject there has been a tendency to suggest that we emerged from this piracy rather well off. Let it be remarked once more that 9,000,000 tons of our shipping lie at the bottom of the sea. We are more interested than any community in the proposal for the abolition of the U-boat.

"If the world is to be safe for democracy something more than a declaration as to the limits within which submarines may be employed must be made. It must be stigmatized as a crime to build submarines and power must be secured to punish any nation which again embarks on this kind of naval construction."

The Canada, the first of the wooden 1,500 ton steamers being built in British Columbia for the French government, has been launched from the Lyall shipyards at Vancouver. Twenty of the ships are being built in Vancouver, and twenty at Victoria.

France Takes Stern Measures To Suppress Food Profiteers

To Draft New Treaty

Paris.—Sir George Foster, Dominion minister of trade and commerce, interviewed by newspaper Excelsior, said that France had informed Canada of her desire to denounce the 1915 treaty, as well as all other similar treaties. Pending further agreements, traffic of goods would continue under the old conditions. Continuing, Sir George said that the future clauses would naturally depend on the attitude of the two countries in accordance with the customs arrangements.

Ontario lumbermen have sent a representative overseas to endeavor to secure some of the large orders of lumber required in reconstruction work in Great Britain, France and Belgium.

The Canadian National Railways has placed orders for the construction of 2,830 cars of all varieties.

Paris.—The government bill under which it is intended to repress increased prices of foodstuffs and speculation in, and the cornering of foodstuffs has been drafted. The cabinet met and examined into the subject of the increased cost of living and it was decided then to prepare the bill.

Under the measure, any attempt to interfere with free commercial competition would be punished by a prison sentence ranging from a month to a year and a fine of from 500 francs to 50,000 francs. Attempted interference was carefully defined in broad language in the bill. Penalties are provided on a greatly increased scale in the case of a person operating illegally in a commodity in which he does not deal habitually.

Publicity is to be given to persons convicted, not in the newspapers, but by affixing documents to their homes, shops, or other places of business. The trial court is to fix the size of the notice to be posted and the time it shall remain exposed. Extra penalties are provided for the suppression or concealing of notices by convicted persons.

A provision of the bill is that a second offender, on conviction, may be forbidden to exercise any trade for five years and also forbidden to accept employment in any capacity in the establishment in which he has previously worked.

May Modify Blockade

Question Has Become Urgent in View of Food Situation

Paris.—Cecil Harmsworth, blockade minister in the new British cabinet, arrived in Paris to attend the peace conference upon the question of lifting or modifying the blockade, which question has become very urgent in view of the food situation in the central empires.

The British position is a willingness to modify the blockade, but that until a peace is signed the blockade machinery must be kept in being in case any occasion should arise for putting it into full operation again. As between the demand on the one hand for practically lifting the blockade and on the other, the objections of the French upon financial grounds, it is hoped that a middle course may be found by applying the system of licenses to enemy trade, which was generally applied to all trade during the war, both in England and in America.

Under this system security could be afforded against any attempt on the part of German exporters to make illegitimate use of a concession to trade which may be granted not as a mark of goodwill but as an expedient forced upon the entente by the desperate food conditions in Germany and in other enemy countries.

Allies Must Watch Germany

Brother-in-Law of Former Russian Emperor Issues Warning

Paris.—The former Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovich, brother-in-law of the former Russian emperor, who has arrived in Paris, as he declares, "not for political purposes, but to make known the truth about Russia," says in an interview in the Matin that the allies must beware of Germany in Russia.

"France has every reason to save Russia," he declared. "If you do not intervene now, be sure that Germany will intervene in her own time. Beware of Germany. That people, which is now at your mercy, hides within itself a hate which shall find its first revenge in Russia."

"A league of nations or a society of peoples is much talked of. It remains to be seen if the nations will not have dealt themselves a mortal blow by hesitating too long to cleanse the Russian sore which threatens to contaminate the whole world."

"Save the Kaiser" Society Organizing

Amsterdam.—Societies to "save the kaiser" from being handed over to the allies are being organized in Germany, according to the Volks Zeitung of Osnabrück. Eitel Frederick, second son of the former emperor, is said to have written a letter to the premier demanding that the government assist in the plan.
